

Summer Reading!

What better way to increase brain power and maintain skills over the summer than reading a few great books! Students are assigned a book list and literacy activities.

Then when you return in September, bring your assignments to your new teacher and you will earn your first three "A's" of the new school year!

Your new teachers are excited to have this opportunity to see your ideas and get to know you a little better the first week of school.

Junior High Summer Reading Requirements

You must read at least three books over the summer. For each book write the following information on an index card:

- Your Name
- Book Title
- Author
- At least three main characters and how they are involved in the plot
- Summary of the plot (3-5 sentences)
- The theme (central message, concern, lesson, or purpose in a literary work)

For one of the books you read, you must also complete a project. You can choose one of the following projects or come up with own idea (just email me at minglek@dces.info over the summer to get approval first! minglek@dces.info):

Project #1 Create a “soundtrack” for the book. What 5 songs would you choose? Give an explanation for why you choose each song and how it connects to the events or characters in the book. Include the title, artist, and lyrics for each song. Make sure your name is on the front page, along with the title and author of the book.

Project #2 In a power point , iMovie, or Windows Movie Maker presentation, create a book talk that explains what the book is about, the theme, the author, and plot information from the book. Use pictures and/or video that accurately show’s the contents of the book. Presentation should be no longer than 3-5 minutes.

Project #3 Write a series of letters between you and one of the people in the book. You will write a total of a least 4 letters that are each about a ½ page in length. The content of each letter should be about the story, and must include details that you imagine; either how the characters feels about some of the events in the story, or inside information that you make up using your imagination. Make sure that your name, the title, and the author, are included in the upper left hand corner of the first letter, and that all letters are stapled together.
